This transformative 7-day experience is aimed at young people between the ages of 18 and 30 years, who want to fully realize their power in order to recognise and design the real tasks in their lives.

Through self-awareness we learn to guide ourselves and others well through life. By recognising ourselves, we are able to make our decisions more consciously and in line with our deeper intentions. Furthermore, we strengthen our self-worth in the group and learn from and with each other – from ego to eco.

Systemic constellation work is an effective method of self-awareness. It is an essential part of the experience. Other elements are: targeted exercises to improve self-leadership skills, recurring sessions of yoga, meditation and activities in nature that give strength and personal development.
